

Melva Green, M.D.

Dr. Melva Green graduated from Meharry Medical College with honors in 1999. She subsequently completed an internship in Pediatrics at the Children's National Medical Center in Washington, D.C. followed by residency training in Psychiatry at Johns Hopkins. Upon residency completion, Dr. Green completed a one year postdoctoral research fellowship in Health Disparities funded by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation at Morgan State University. Amidst this training program she produced "Mood Indigo 101: The Unexpected Faces of Depression", a 15 minute educational videotape which depicts depression amongst African-American students at Historically Black Colleges and Universities.

Currently, Dr. Green serves as the Psychiatric Consultant for the Morgan State University Counseling Center while simultaneously focusing on the evaluation and distribution of the video project. Amongst many other accolades and appointments, she has been recently appointed to assume position of Chair for the Committee on Women at the American Psychiatric Association.
